

NANCY WYNNE IS MUCH INTERESTED IN CHEVY CHASE CAMP FOR WOMEN

The Month of May at Least Will Be Devoted to Camping Out by Members of the National School of the Woman's Section of the Navy League

MONDAY week women of all kinds and descriptions, single and otherwise, young and middle-aged, will start out, frocked in sports suits and hats, armed with tooth brush, comb, handkerchief and a few other extras, and will ride gaily off to Chevy Chase to join the encampment of the National School of the Woman's Section of the Navy League. There are to be two courses in May, lasting two weeks each. The first commences on May 1 and the second May 16. And they are all to wear khaki uniforms and learn how to make beds, wash, mend, iron, and good grammar, get up at 6:30 o'clock, and just think, they may go to Washington for two whole hours in the afternoon, from 4 until 6 o'clock. Won't it be gay and festive? Beside this they will have to study how to make surgical dressings and apply those same, and cookate this well, my dears, they will learn dietetics and cooking for the sick in two weeks' time. Furthermore, they are going to live in tents. The last sentence of the day's program says, "The committee reserves the right of action in all matters of discipline." Oh, girls, aren't you scared to death? You don't know what might happen. Be that as it may, it will certainly be a fine thing, beyond doubt, and the young campers will be benefited in every way, methinks. Most of the smart girls from here will go down the second week because the Junior League Convention will be on during the first week in May.

Seaside Resorts

ATLANTIC CITY, April 22.—The Great Wooden Way radiated a spirit of joyousness today, for the weather was delightfully balmy and there was no overhanging clouds threatening to rain milady's finery. So every one emerged from furs and top wraps in their very newest and best spring togs, all of which made the famous Esplanade a delight to behold. So colorful are the modes this year that one has become rather blasé to the wonderfully incongruous combinations, Scotch plaid, hosiery, combining red, blue and green with a dash of yellow, were worn by a girl in a dark-blue tailored suit and a Harry Lauder hat.

Miss Doris Miller, who is at the Chelsea with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, is in the walk attired in a gray-and-black checked tailored suit and a black turban, encircled with pink roses. A large corsage of sweet peas added a becoming touch.

Miss Elsa P. Lyons was on the Chelsea Walk attired in a dark blue coat suit bound with black braid. She wore a navy-blue sailor with green-and-red fancy.

Miss Margaret Hughes, of Melrose Park, who is in the walk with her mother, Mrs. A. W. Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Campbell, wore with her slate-gray sports suit a purple scarf and a large purple sash.

Miss Letta Sullivan, who has been here for a fortnight, was in a rolling chair this afternoon, looking especially well in her dark blue serge suit, white fox fur and white sailor, simply trimmed with blue-and-white ribbon.

Miss Helen Baldwin, who is at the Brighton, chose narrow black leather as the embellishment of her dark blue serge suit. She wore a becoming hat of blue and white horsehair fabric. Miss Miriam Megargee and Miss Lorna Megargee viewed the Boardwalk through this afternoon from a rolling chair.

Miss Julia MacMakin is wearing a tailored sailor hat with her citron-colored sports suit.

Another attractive Philadelphia girl on the Walk was Miss Sarah Blackburn, who was attired in a brown and black checked Norfolk with a blue sailor.

Miss Marie Garrity was admired in a smart-tailored gown, having a skirt and black and white striped accented plaited collar and blue-and-white ribbon.

Miss Marie Camblos wore a dark blue suit built with cape effect and a chrome and straw hat.

Mr. George Malpass has opened his cottage, on Connecticut and Pacific avenues, for the Easter season at the Marlborough-Blenheim was augmented today by Mrs. S. M. Peirce, Miss Alice Hitchens, Miss Hortense Riegle, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. C. C. and Mrs. Edward Bell.

Miller, Jr., and Mrs. Austin Heckacher.

The Philadelphia contingent at the Dennis today included Mrs. Clarence Kugler, Mrs. Thomas E. Duffington, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Lupton, Mrs. Louis Forster, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Montgomery, Mrs. Joseph A. Short, Miss Short and Miss Trudewind.

One of the big attractions for tonight is the dance at C. Ellwood Carpenter's Casino Club on the Boardwalk.

If the conditions of hard study, assiduous effort, keen ingenuity and enthusiastic support may be taken as an indication of assured success, the presentation of "The Frogs of Aristophanes," by students of the Temple University, will, without doubt, prove to be the most effective of the dramatic productions of the season this year. The play will be given in its English version; the story is delightfully funny and will provide ample amusement, while the music of the "Frog" choruses is of a high order of beauty of play. The costumes have been designed especially for this production, and will leave nothing to be desired. There is also promise of a dance by Greek maidens, enhanced by a solo dance, "The Pipes of Pan."

A faculty committee is directing the play, consisting of Dr. Nicholas P. Vlachos, of the classical department; Isabel Graves, of the English department; Miss Anita Preston, of the normal physical education department, who is in charge of the dancing; Miss Charles H.
